This memorial volume celebrates the life of Laurence Moss, the scholar, economist, professor, journal editor, lawyer, magician and skeptic. This volume contains a complete listing of Moss's publications since 1973 together with a sample syllabus of the famous course he taught at Babson College, "Scams and Frauds in Business." The chosen papers are a representative sample of Moss's approach to the field of economics, as well as the teaching of economics, and reception of his approach.
